Microsoft Office Activation Wizard Facebook Tweet GooglePlus Pinterest StumbleUpon LinkedIn Tumblr Watch News Russia and Belarus have agreed that Russian and Belarusian citizens caught in areas where the Crimean crisis is still unfolding can vote in the Crimean referendum on independence on March 16, a Moscow-backed referendum that is illegal under international law and has not been recognized by any country, officials said. Ukraine's Supreme Court banned the vote, saying that only Crimean lawmakers, residents or presidents could hold it, but residents did so anyway. Yury Neishtadt, head of the Information Policy Commission at the presidential administration, said on Facebook that two Belarusian citizens who crossed the border and were caught in Russian-occupied Crimea will be deported. A third Belarusian has said he plans to join

Crimean residents who have been released after spending a night in detention. More than 600 Crimean voters have been detained as they tried to cast ballots in an illegal referendum. About 400 voted in the poll, which is unconstitutional, and at least five were injured when a crowd surged, the region's election chief told Reuters. Hundreds of people in Crimea tried to take part in an illegal referendum over the weekend to vote on joining Russia, and Reuters journalists were briefly detained by masked men sent by the region's pro-Russian leader. Sunscreen & Winter Travel Tips This past week, I was in Florida where it was in the mid-80's with the humidity. The combination was miserable, even for a Floridian! I was working from home, which usually means I can choose the temperature of my home - the air, the food, the news and the activities that I am exposed to. But for the holiday season, that doesn't work. You are stuck with your choice of temperature in the house. For the most part, working from home didn't put me at a disadvantage in the present and future. I had the majority of my schedules, the majority of my planning and most of my planning in place while I was there. It was just a matter of going to the place and putting the final touches on my plans. I was traveling solo which also gives me a bit more freedom. Here are a few quick and easy tips for getting ready for winter travel. 1. Bring sunscreens that have an SPF of 15 or higher. Many
